

A group of eight children, four boys and four girls, are posed in two rows in front of a traditional Chinese building. They are all wearing bright red traditional Chinese robes with black trim at the collar, cuffs, and hem. The children in the front row are holding open books or papers. The background features a large red wooden door with intricate lattice work. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting an outdoor setting during the day.

A photograph of two young children, a boy and a girl, sitting at a table and practicing calligraphy. They are both wearing red traditional Chinese clothing. The boy on the left is holding a brush and looking down at his work. The girl on the right is also holding a brush and looking down at her work. They are writing on a long scroll that has some characters already written on it. A small black inkstone is visible on the table. The background shows a wooden lattice screen.

A young girl with dark hair tied back, wearing a green short-sleeved shirt, is seated at a wooden desk. She is looking down at a white sheet of paper on the desk, with her hands resting on it. The background shows a wooden wall with some decorative elements and a whiteboard.
